

2022/23

By John Aitken

The National League System have come into effect over the last 40 years but it started with the formation of the Alliance Premier League in 1978/79 season the Northern Premier League, Isthmian Football League and the Southern Football League where the top divisions in the Non-League. The Alliance League later became today's National League and lowered down one level and these became a feeder to the above league.

The Northern Premier League was formed in 1968 from teams from the Cheshire County League, Lancashire Combination League, Midland Football League, North Regional League and West Midlands (Regional) League and today it takes promoted teams from Northern League, North East Counties, North West Counties League, Midland Football League and United Counties Football League which are its five feeder leagues to this day. Eleven of the original members either went on to be or were football League members.

These leagues were dropped one more level down when National League North and South Divisions were formed in 2004 and the League System started placing leagues to feed these leagues with some other minor leagues feeding two or more off them.

From the 2021/22 season the Northern Premier League was realigned with the divisions below and to save on traveling costs and was aligned into North, East and Midlands divisions

Ground Guide

The ground has a capacity of 4,073 with 530 seats the small Main Stand at one side of the pitch is modern and has no supporting pillars and runs for around a third of the length of the pitch, sitting astride the half way line and mounted on the back wall of the stand is a small electric scoreboard.

On one side of the Main Stand is a small old covered terrace, affectionately known as the Scratching Shed, whilst the other side is unused. Opposite is another new looking stand called the Leigh Street Stand, this small covered terrace runs almost the full length of the pitch and is where the team dugouts are located. At one end is the Walker Lane End, which is another small covered terrace. Opposite is the intriguingly named Tinkers Passage End.
